

Jade Child Development Center

August 2018

Splish, Splash, Pop, Bubble...

During the Summertime, classroom's will have water play days outside or activities involving water inside.

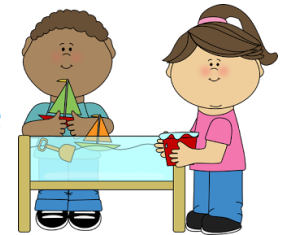

Water play is more than just a "free day", it provides children to experiment with math and advances their social and physical development.

Physical Development: Encourages the development of eye/hand coordination through squeezing and scrubbing. Strengthens their gross motor skills by running through sprinklers and chasing with water.

Social + Emotional Development: Water play is the most relaxing activities children can experience. It relieves tension through pouring swooshing.

Problem-Solving: This skill helps children understand why things happen. For example, understanding why certain objects float or sink.

Math: Children begin to understand with concepts such as same/different, more/less and empty/full.

Please let a member of management know if your child's schedule will change for the 2018-2019 school year!

It's that time of year again...
